U.S. - Census, Bureau of the.

By the provisions of the Act of May 23, 1850, a superintendent of the census was appointed under the direction of the secretary of the Interior to carry on census work. On Apr. 12, 1879, the Census office was organized in the Dept. of the Interior. On Feb. 14, 1903, the Census office was transferred to the Dept. of commerce and labor, as the Bureau of the census. In Mar. 1913, when the Dept. of commerce and labor split up, the Bureau of the census became a part of the Dept. of commerce.

Facts for industry.
Current statistics on industry are issued in the Facts for industry series. This series was started as the result of the policy adopted by the War Production Board in Nov. 1943, of releasing significant statistical data to industry.
A Census of manufactures was taken in 1948, covering 1947 statistics. The next will be taken in 1954, covering 1953, and every 5 years thereafter. The numbering for the Census of manufactures publications follow the same pattern as the Facts for industry and in some cases carry the same numbering.

 "The data presented herewith ... are the result of a special tabulation of the 1920 schedules for population, made under the supervision of the Bureau of the census, by the Division of farm population and rural life, Bureau of agricultural economics, Department of agriculture. The tabulation was planned and initiated by Dr. C. J. Galpin, economist in charge of the Division of farm population and rural life, and carried out under the direction of Miss Veda B. Larson, junior economist in the same division. The major parts of the introductory text was written by Mr. Leon E. Truesdell, of the Bureau of the census, who is also responsible for the form and arrangement of the tables."—Note by the director of the census. p. 3.

Census of manufactures.
A Census of manufactures was taken in 1948, covering 1947. The next census will be taken in 1954, covering 1953, and every 5 years thereafter. Current statistics on industry are issued in the Facts for industry series.
The series numbers of the Census of manufactures follow the same pattern of the Facts for industry with the prefix MC instead of L. Some of the publications however are designated with C only, and some retain the same numbering of the same series in the Facts for industry series.

Soil survey reports ... Series 1923-Washington, U. S. Govt. print. off., 1928-7. plates, maps (part fold.) tables. 23cm.
In cooperation with the state agricultural experiment stations.
Before 1923 series, these reports were issued by U. S. Dept. of agriculture, Bureau of soils, in an annual bound volume with title: Field operations of the Bureau of soils. Unnumbered reprints were also issued.
Beginning with 1923 series, no bound annual volume is issued. The reports for each year are consecutively numbered, the last number for each year being conspicuously marked.
1923-June 1930 issued by Bureau of chemistry and soils; July 1930-Jan. 1948 issued by Bureau of plant industry; Feb. 1948- issued by Bureau of plant industry, soils, and agricultural engineering.

U.S. Civilian conservation corps.

The Civilian conservation corps was created by act of Congress approved June 28, 1933 (Public. no. 163, 76th Cong.) succeeding and continuing the work of the independent agency known as Emergency conservation work which was established by Executive order no. 6101, dated April 5, 1933.

From April 5, 1933, to July 1, 1937, the Emergency conservation work was popularly known as the Civilian conservation corps. By the aforementioned act of June 28, 1937, effective July 1, 1937, the popular name was officially adopted as the legal designation of the organization. The corps has been a continuously functioning organization, therefore, since April 5, 1933.

For convenience of reference, the name Civilian conservation corps has been adopted as a heading by the Library of Congress for publications of both the Emergency conservation work and of its successor, the Civilian conservation corps.
